Information circular*

To: Members of the staff

From: The Assistant Secretary-General for Human Resources Management

Subject: 2008 competitive examination for English-language verbatim reporters

1. The purpose of the present information circular is to invite applications from staff members of the Secretariat at the P-3 level and below who wish to take the competitive examination for English-language verbatim reporters in 2008, in accordance with the provisions of ST/AI/1998/7 and ST/AI/2000/1, as amended by ST/AI/2003/1.

2. The competitive examination for English-language verbatim reporters will be held tentatively on 17 October 2008 in New York, Geneva and other locations, according to the number and location of qualified candidates convoked for the examination. The purpose of the examination is to establish a roster from which present and future vacancies for English-language verbatim reporters will be filled. When vacancies occur, successful candidates will be recruited from the roster, subject to the requirements of the section in terms of expertise and language combinations.

3. The examination is open to staff members of the United Nations at the P-3 level and below who meet the eligibility requirements, as well as qualified external candidates. Staff members from subsidiary organs of the United Nations and staff members whose service is limited to a particular organ, fund or programme of the United Nations or to special missions are considered external candidates for the purpose of this examination. Such candidates, if successful in the examination, will be offered a new appointment with the United Nations subject to normal United Nations recruitment procedures and standards. Staff members who are successful and are selected for inclusion in the roster will be assigned to fill vacancies for English-language verbatim reporter posts as they occur in New York. Successful candidates are expected to serve a minimum of five years in language posts. The assignment of staff members of the United Nations who are successful in the examination and are selected to fill vacancies will be subject to the conditions set out in paragraphs 13 to 15 below.

* Expiration date of the present information circular: 31 December 2008.

4. Staff members of the Secretariat applying for the examination must:

(a) Have English as their main language;[1]

(b) Have a perfect command of English and an excellent knowledge of French and one of the other official languages of the United Nations (Arabic, Chinese, Russian or Spanish). The Board of Examiners, appointed by the Assistant Secretary-General for Human Resources Management, requires that candidates' claims to knowledge of official languages be supported by relevant documentation in their official status files. Staff members who have been enrolled in a United Nations language course in any of the languages claimed must have passed the United Nations language proficiency examination in that language. Candidates who have not attended the United Nations language courses in the languages claimed must substantiate their claims to knowledge of those languages. For that purpose, staff members should give a clear explanation on the P.11 or personal history profile (PHP) form of how they acquired their knowledge of the languages claimed;

(c) Hold at least a three-year first-level degree from a university or institution of equivalent status in which English is the language of instruction or hold a university degree from a recognized school of translation;

(d) Have computer and word-processing skills and be fast and accurate typists.

5. In order to meet the Organization's need to recruit staff for language posts who will serve for a reasonable period of time before reaching retirement age, staff members who do not serve on 100-series appointments and who will have reached age 56 by the deadline for the submission of applications (25 July 2008) will not be eligible to sit for the examination. There is no age limit for full-time staff members serving on 100-series appointments.

6. The requirement of a degree or its equivalent from a university or institution of equivalent status stipulated in paragraph 4 (c) above may be waived for staff members who, in the judgement of the Board of Examiners, have adequate post-secondary-education qualifications from a university or institution of equivalent status and adequate secondary educational qualifications, in addition to five years of continuous service with the United Nations Secretariat by 31 December 1989.

7. All applicants should submit with their applications a one-page essay in English explaining why they wish to work as verbatim reporters in the United Nations. All applications will be reviewed by the Board of Examiners. In instances where a large number of applications are received, the Board reserves the right to admit to the examination only the most qualified candidates based on a review of the qualifications that are over and above the minimum criteria set out in paragraph 4. Convoked candidates will be required to submit evidence of degrees, knowledge of languages and/or relevant experience prior to the interview. All applicants will be notified of the Board's decision in respect of their application. The Board's decisions are final.

[1] "Main language" should be understood to be the language in which the candidate is best able to work. Candidates' claims to English as their main language must be supported by relevant documentation in their official status files.

8. The written verbatim reporting examination, to be held on 17 October 2008, will consist of three papers:

(a) Editing of and making all necessary logical and stylistic corrections to an English text (two hours). This paper is eliminatory. Only candidates who are successful in this paper will have their other papers marked;

(b) Bringing the English version of a text into line with the original French (one and a half hours);

(c) Bringing the English version of a text into line with the original Arabic, Chinese, Russian or Spanish text selected by the candidate (one and a half hours).

9. The use of a dictionary or any other reference material will not be permitted during the examination. Similarly, candidates may not use personal computers to prepare their papers.

10. On the basis of the results of the written examination, the Board of Examiners will invite selected candidates to a competency-based interview. The Board will interview each candidate to assess whether she or he possesses the competencies required for the position. Candidates may also be required to take some additional short tests at the time of the interview (including a computer skills test). The interview is an integral part of the examination. Therefore, candidates who are invited for an interview should not assume that they will automatically be included in the roster.

11. On the basis of the overall results of the examination, the Board will recommend to the Assistant Secretary-General for Human Resources Management the names of candidates who qualify for inclusion in the roster. All candidates admitted to the examination will be informed in writing of the Board's final recommendation in respect of their candidature. The Board's recommendations are not subject to appeal. The Board does not release individual scores or results.

12. Successful candidates who receive an offer of appointment are strongly encouraged to accept it, as declining may affect their prospects of receiving a subsequent offer.

13. Staff members selected to fill vacancies will be assigned as English-language verbatim reporters for a trial period of two years. Staff members below the P-2 level or who are in the General Service category will receive a special post allowance to the P-2 level. Staff members at the P-2 and P-3 levels will be assigned at their respective levels.

14. Staff members with a special post allowance to the P-2 level and those already at the P-2 level who complete the trial period successfully and are recommended by the Department for General Assembly and Conference Management and the Office of Human Resources Management may be promoted to the P-3 level. Staff members already at the P-3 level who complete the trial period successfully will be confirmed in their functions at the P-3 level. Staff members on fixed-term appointment will be eligible to be considered for permanent appointment subject to the requirements of the staff rules in force. Staff members who do not complete the trial period successfully will be reassigned to posts at their previous levels and the special post allowance, if any, will be discontinued.

15. In accordance with the needs of the section, successful candidates may be called upon to work outside normal working hours, including weekends and holidays.

16. Staff members applying for the examination should complete the attached form and submit it together with a copy of the P.11 or PHP form in English and the essay referred to in paragraph 7 above, not later than 25 July 2008, to:
